Must-know ideas
What should I understand by the end?

- A tracker audit is not a formality: missing benchmarks can delay course credit or pathway certification.
- Revising with specific feedback is more effective than re-reading your own draft.
- Naming a concrete completion date for missing work converts a vague intention into a plan.

My notes, examples, and questions

Process notes
What happens during class?

- 0-10: Revise counseling memo using one peer note or self-identified gap from Thursday
- 10-40: Open MP1 tracker; audit every benchmark; build gap list with dates
- 40-60: Resubmit any short-turn-around missing evidence if possible now
- 60-72: Finalize gap list with completion dates for remaining items
- 72-78: Submit final counseling memo and tracker audit
- 78-80: Teacher confirms receipt; preview genetic testing-methods unit

Steps and evidence What do I do and turn in?

- Revise your counseling memo from Thursday using one piece of feedback or one missing detail.
- Open your tracker and confirm all marking-period-one benchmarks are marked complete.
- List any missing evidence and the date you will complete it.
- Submit your final counseling memo and tracker audit for the week-end summative.

Evidence: Tracker entry - Revised counseling memo plus MP1 tracker audit: list of complete benchmarks, any gaps with completion dates.

My notes, examples, and questions

Checks for understanding How do I know I got it?

- You'll be able to deliver a complete, accurate counseling memo.
- You'll be able to verify your MP1 evidence is closed out.

My notes, examples, and questions

Lab or safety notes What must I handle carefully?

No special lab safety notes today. Follow normal classroom and digital-work expectations.
